Create a still life completely out of curved surfaces (no primitives may be used). Arrange real world objects together, sketch at least 5 different compositions of the still life, then translate that sketch into Maya. Position the Perspective view window as if you were framing a photograph of your still-life.

Both your sketches and scene files will be graded.